SE-14-001

Rob Carter, agent for MEDCYL Services, Ltd, is requesting a special exception to allow an outdoor storage tank in the Industrial Light (IL) zoning district. The property address is 3769 Acline Road, Punta Gorda, and is described as the Common Area of the Acline Center Condominium Association, Inc., located in Section 28, Township 41 South, Range 23 East.

Ken Quillen presented general information and staff findings for the petition.

Mr. Tiseo had questions about the permit for the slab.

Applicant Presentation

Rob Carter, agent for MEDCYL Services, Ltd., said he was sworn in. Mr. Carter said they are a medical oxygen manufacturing company under FDA guidelines, department of Health approved. When they originally expanded into Charlotte County, (Naples to Sarasota home health care coverage) they originally picked this site (among others) because there was the availability to go on the side of the building with the tank. When they applied for their slab permit, the diagram showed a tank going onto this slab. If anything else was needed, they were not told and it was not their intent to do anything illegal or without a permit. He has placed approximately 120 of these tanks in the past 19 years, five others in the State of Florida and he never needed a special exception for any of them. When he was notified five months ago for having the tank on this site, he did not know anything was wrong with Zoning. He has four employees who live in Charlotte County who should be working at this site, but they are driving to Plant City to work there. He pays for their gas going back and forth. He serves 1,650 patients a month out of this facility. He cannot get a certificate of occupancy to use this building because of this situation. The oxygen comes from the others sites to take care of the patients in this area. He explained how the oxygen tank works and the safety with it.

There was discussion about the review of the slab. Mr. Carter said he had many discussions with the permitting department about what was going on to the slab. Discussion was held about how the tank was bolted to the slab, the safety of the oxygen in the tank, and how it releases oxygen.

Objector Status

Geri Waksler, Esq. represented two neighbors across the street. Ms. Waksler said she was sworn in. She handed out documents from Orange County California. She said she is representing the two neighbors across the street from the site. She wants them to come up and explain what they see.

Benji Dees, who lives at 3850 Acline Road, said he was sworn in. Mr. Dees said this is across the street from this site. Besides it being an eyesore, the noise factor is annoying. The semi-truck that comes in frequently makes noise backing up. The headlights shine into our property. When the pressure release goes off, it is in the middle of the night and they can hear it. He is against this tank on this site.

Christina Davis, who lives at 3700 Acline Road, said she was sworn in. Ms. Davis said she has lived there 17 years, before the building across the street was built. The noise is a huge concern. They have a large berm in the front of their property to block the view, but they can still see the tank from their front porch.

Ms. Waksler discussed the criteria for a special exception and felt all the criteria was not met. The Orange Co. documents are from the National Fire Protection Association publication. She read about oxygen in the atmosphere and other quotes. She could not find Florida's requirements for bulk liquid oxygen for storage tanks but wanted to refer to the Orange County documents. That county has an entire set of regulations on how these tanks should be installed.

There was discussion about the IL zoning across from the AE zoning across the street. What is allowed in IL zoning by right and by special exception.

Mr. Carter said he wants to be a good neighbor. He can make a call and have the truck come during different hours, not late at night so they don't make a lot of noise or have lights shining into the yards across the street. He was not familiar with this issue at this site. He said his largest customer Lincare, was a tenant in this building, so it worked out. Lincare on site kept liquid oxygen in a van, as well between 700 and 1,000 high pressure cylinders. This was never an objection. Lincare is not there anymore, but no one said anything about what they had. This tank is very safe.

There was discussion about regulations for the tank, leaks, valves, internal safety of the tank, release of pressure, and how the tank is built.

Chair Ariens opened the meeting to Public Hearing.
